

Safety Jingles Used On US-23

The State Highway Department, leaving no stone unturned in its efforts to reduce the high accident rate on US-23 between Bay City and Standish, has turned to roadside jingles in its latest caution on this 28-mile stretch of highway, an important avenue for traffic to and from the northern part of the state.

Sets of the jingles have been installed at 5-mile intervals along the 28-mile stretch between Bay City and Standish. Each set will contain four signs, each sign spaced 150 feet apart.

Fourth of July travelers were the first to peruse the jingles. The driver's attention is called first to this message: "Watch For Highway Den of Death." Then, at a short distance on, he reads this suggestion: "Drive With Caution—Check Your Speed—Think It Over—While You Read." A little farther: "Do Not Use—The Middle Lane—To Pass Unless—It's Safe and Sane," and finally this admonition: "Watch Crossings—Pedestrians Too—Highway Safety—Is Up To You."

The Bay City—Standish section of US-23 began receiving unfavorable publicity several months ago after a six months tally of accidents there revealed 19 persons had been killed and numerous others injured. The Highway Department and State Police have been studying conditions there, including design of the highway. This investigation, revealed that the highway is well constructed and safe from an engineering standpoint, has easy curves and long sight distances. The investigation also showed that 94 percent of the accidents between Bay City and Standish were due to carelessness on the part of drivers—driving too slow during peak traffic periods, recklessness, speeding, drivers falling asleep, use of the center lane when it was not clear, causing head-on collisions, etc.

State Police now have special patrols on this stretch of highway and will maintain an intensive patrol there during peak periods of traffic. Speed limits of 35, 40 and 45 miles an hour have been set up between Bay City and Keweenaw, a 4-mile section which has produced most of the accidents.

Reflectorized and oversized regulatory signs, such as "Center Line for Passing Only," have been installed on the entire 28-mile section from Bay City to Standish, and luminous paint used for the pavement markings, so that both may be read easily, night or day. The considerable amount of publicity given to accidents on this section seems to have failed to act as an accident deterrent there, and so the Highway Department has figured something special in the way of signs is needed. Hence the roadside jingles, to provide safety education on the spot, which the Department hopes will eliminate carelessness on the part of the small minority of drivers who are responsible for accidents.

Wash Hands Before Eating Urged as Polio Precaution

Parents should see that children wash hands thoroughly before eating as one precaution against polio, particularly during the summer epidemic season, according to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The National Foundation through its local chapter is launching a series of six simple health rules that should be observed during the summer to help combat the disease.

Scientific studies, financed by March of Dimes funds, indicate that the hands may be a means of spreading the virus infection through contamination of food, dishes or objects carried to the mouth.

For this reason, a high standard of personal cleanliness should be maintained especially during the polio danger months—late June through September, the National Foundation urges, adding that fresh fruit and vegetables should be washed well before eating.

Locals Win Two Week-end Games

The Grayling Independent baseball team won an out-league game on July 4, and took a forfeited league game from Atlanta on Sunday afternoon here. The holiday game, a contest with Twining of the Northeastern Michigan Baseball League, ended with Grayling out in front with a score of 9 to 6.

Twining took the lead in the game by scoring two runs in each of the second and third innings, and one more in the fourth, before Grayling could chalk up a score.

In the fifth, Grayling scored five runs and added four more in the sixth to put the game on ice. A crowd thriller and a run scorer for Grayling was a circuit clout by big Ross Thompson, local backstop.

Barry Muhr hit a double with three Twining players following suit.

Gidner started on the mound for Grayling and gave up 7 hits and 2 passes, and struck out one before he was relieved by Keway, who whiffed 4, walked 3 and gave up 3 hits. The two Twining hurlers gave up 10 hits, while striking out 5 and walking 2.

Gidner, Anthony and Smith led the local attack with 2 hits each, with Muhr, George Hanson, Smock and Thompson adding a hit each.

Although a game was played last Sunday, Atlanta started the contest with three Grayling players filling out their lineup. Atlanta was short of players at game time, and after a wait of 30 minutes, play was started, but the game was forfeited.

In the game, Atlanta won by an 8 to 6 count. Grayling could score but 6 runs from 12 hits and five Atlanta errors, while the visitors pushed over 8 tallies on 9 hits and 3 Grayling errors.

In the other league game last Sunday, Roscommon downed Mio by a 6 to 2 count. The Rose City-Comins game and the Lewiston-Fairview match were both rained out.

Next Sunday league play will be dropped for the All-Star game, which will be played at Roscommon with the local leaders meeting a nine composed of star players from the other seven clubs of the league. A barbecue is planned for after the game for all players, umpires, league officials and their guests.

Leo Granger, Bob Gildner and Ross Thompson have been named to represent Grayling on the All-Star aggregation. Elmer Kellogg was named as an alternate.

Following are the standings in the league:

	Won	Lost
Roscommon	6	0
Fairview	3	2
Mio	3	3
Grayling	3	3
Atlanta	3	4
Comins	2	3
Rose City	1	3

The Grayling Air Service is one of the 223 G. I. Flight Schools in Michigan which have been certified by the Michigan Department of Aeronautics to renew their contracts for the 1947-1948 season with the Veterans Administration to enable them to give veterans flight training under the G. Evans further stated that recertification of all G. I. Flight Schools in Michigan giving instruction to veterans was necessary to re-qualify under the new provisions of the Michigan Official G. I. Flight Training curriculum. Michigan is one of the few states which licenses flight schools. Many states require approval from the C. A. A.

According to reports from the Veterans Administration, 25 percent of all flight training in the Nation is being conducted in Michigan.

Legion Club Ransacked

Thieves forced entry into the clubrooms of the Grayling American Legion Post 106, Sunday night, and thoroughly ransacked the hall in a vain search for money.

After a complete inventory, Prosecuting Attorney Robert F. Neafie, who is also a member of the Legion house committee, stated that all that appeared to be missing was a few pennies from the cash register.

Entry was made into the building through a window in the upper story and two doors were smashed by the vandals in getting into the clubroom and a storage room. Damage to the doors was estimated at about $10. A collection bottle for the Disabled American Veterans was on one end of the bar filled with change. It was not disturbed.

An investigation by the Crawford County Sheriff's department and the Michigan State Police is now under way. No reportable progress has been made as yet, it was said.

Drunk Driving Chief Traffic Problem; Public Is Aware of Danger In Drinking

By W. Earl Hall
Chairman, National Committee for Traffic Safety

Drinking by drivers and pedestrians is a growing traffic safety problem. The most recent records of state authorities show that in one out of every four fatal traffic accidents, a driver or pedestrian was reported to have been drinking.

Special studies bear out the belief of many authorities that the information on official accident reports understates the true picture. Surveys involving chemical tests of blood or other body materials of drivers tested who had been injured or killed in traffic accidents showed that half of the drivers had alcohol in their system. About one-third of all the drivers tested had sufficient alcohol to be under its influence.

Results show that the greater the concentration of alcohol in a person's system, the greater the danger. A person with a blood alcohol concentration of over .15 percent has a relatively poor chance of staying out of an accident. The average driver in this range is fifty-five times more likely to be involved in an accident than drivers with no alcohol.

The public is well aware of the dangers of driving after drinking. In a public opinion poll for the National Committee for Traffic Safety, each person interviewed was asked which of ten listed factors caused the greater number of accidents, in his opinion. Driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor ranked number one.

Perhaps the main stumbling block in getting better enforcement of drunken driving laws in most places has been the difficulty in determining whether the driver actually was under the influence. So much so that

Guard Heads For Camp Grayling

Receipt of field training authorization from the War Department this week by the Adjutant General marked the final step toward starting field training for the Michigan National Guard. Three thousand five hundred officers and men will roll into Camp Grayling this Saturday, July 12, for their first post-war encampment.

Approximately one hundred National Guard units organized during the past ten months will move by train and motor transport from 42 Michigan communities to the rendezvous at Grayling. Advance detachments will arrive at Camp Grayling on July 9 to prepare the area for the main body of troops arriving three days later.

Brig. General Ralph A. Loveland of Ann Arbor will be camp commander and will direct the field training schedule. Highlight of the field training will be the parade of the 45th Division scheduled for Saturday, July 19, which will be witnessed by the commanding general and his staff and visiting public and military officials.

All troops will have an opportunity to fire their individual weapons. Sufficient ammunition has been allotted by the Army to enable the troops to fire all weapons, including pistols, carbines, rifles, machine guns, and other weapons up to 155mm howitzers. More than 500 vehicles will be used to transport troops to Grayling and in field operations on the military reservation.

All Guardsmen will live in tents for the 15 days of field training. The encampment area is situated on Lake Margrethe, which provides ample opportunity for recreation of the troops in their off-duty hours. Appetizing menus, including chicken on Sundays and fresh meat each day, will feature the bill of fare lined up for the hungry troops. All infantry units will participate in an overnight bivouac.

been experienced in some places in convicting drivers who are under the influence but not "staggeringly drunk" that enforcement has been directed at only the most obvious cases.

Many progressive enforcement agencies, however, have turned to use of chemical tests to provide the needed additional evidence. Such tests show definitely whether there is sufficient alcohol in the blood stream and brain to cause intoxication. Their use eliminates guesswork by showing whether a drinking driver has enough alcohol in his system to be legally under its influence.

Test results do not measure how much a person has been drinking—they show instead how much has been absorbed in the blood stream, and how much gets to the brain. It is the concentration of alcohol in the blood stream and brain, not the amount in the stomach, which bears a definite relationship to degree of intoxication.

The use of such scientific tests was recommended by the President's Highway Safety Conference of 1946. National organizations which have long advocated the use of chemical tests for alcoholic influence include the American Bar Association, American Medical Association, Federal Bureau of Investigation, International Association of Chiefs of Police, National Association of Police Chiefs, and the National Conservation Bureau.

Despite the technical and promotional work of these groups, there are still jurisdictions which regard chemical test evidence in somewhat the same light as a lie detector—a "new-fangled gadget." Many cities, however, notably Cincinnati, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Kansas City, Detroit, Washington and Indianapolis, use chemical tests as routine practice. A recent tabulation showed 62 cities over 10,000 population reporting use of such tests for enforcement purposes, with 20 state enforcement agencies likewise reporting their use.

A driver who was not breaking city law, and two passengers with him, burned to death in this inferno when a reckless overtaking motorist tried to pass their car where the way was too narrow. His engine rammed into the gasoline tank, setting it off, and the car was knocked off the road, and over and into a field, where it quickly turned into a molten furnace. The lawbreaker himself was not injured—such is the irony of highway accidents. National Conservation Bureau safety specialists report that improper passing ranked fifth as a cause of motor vehicle deaths last year; most often it was combined with excessive speed which accounted for at least $600 fatalities.

Crawford County Library

The Doubleday Book Club's June selection, "Banner By the Wayside," is another novel on the light side, and especially adapted to summer reading. Authored by Samuel Hopkins Adams, best known for "It Happened One Night," it tells of cantankerous, woman-hating Adam P. Andrews and his bungling efforts to control the life and destiny of a founding baby girl. Determined to rear her "according to his own theory of a girls proper up-bringing," he named her Endurance—Durie for short—trained her carefully, when she was grown, entered her at Harvard, dressed as a boy. Here, her "manly" charms caused unlooked-for competition among rival fraternities in pledging season and the ensuing fracas ended in her exposure. Simultaneously, Durie, running at top speed with a hundred Harvard wolves in hot pursuit, discovered that being a woman had its compensations, in spite of the theories of her austere foster father. Jans Quintard, with a new, amorous interest added to the old rushing spirit, continues the chase in one hilarious escapade after another through page after page of sheer, rib-tickling delight, a sure cure for the severest case of summer doldrums.

"Kingsblood Royal," the controversial Sinclair Lewis novel, leads the field of best-selling fiction, and Ernie Pyle's "Home Country" is third on the non-fiction list.

The Crawford County Library will be closed all this week while Mrs. Augustus Funck, librarian, attends library school at Higgins Lake.

MICHELSON MEMORIAL CHURCH SCHOOL

A very fine group of children and young people were in attendance at church school last Sunday, although the school was handicapped severely by a shortage of teachers. Most of the intermediates who went to camp last week were in attendance and gave several fine reports on camp activities. They also demonstrated a motion-song, "Deep and Wide," which they learned at camp.

Attendance awards for the spring quarter were made to Jimmie Granger, Nancy Hilton, Donna Horning, Phyllis Randolph, Sylvia Robertson, Rita Sorenson, Tommie Hilton, Louise Lutz, Shirlee Souders, and Joan Bond. These third quarter attendance pins represent nine months uninterrupted attendance. Second quarter pins were awarded to Ronald Larson and Sally Gross. The first grade names were omitted from the primary award list last week. Attendance pins for June were awarded to Judy Cameron, Richard Davis, Betty Horning, and Connie Millikin.

Plans are in the making for the organization of a Methodist Youth Fellowship Group. Definite plans will be announced next week.

CAMP REPORT

We left Grayling at 1 o'clock Sunday, June 29, and arrived in camp at 5:30 p. m. There were 7 cabins and a wing of a dormitory. Each cabin accommodates 18 and a counselor. Our enrollment was 125. We had morning watch and evening services every day, conducted by Dr. Don Morris of Saginaw. We were in classes part of each forenoon. The one we liked the most was "A Look At Africa," taught by Rev. Ray Miller and his two daughters. Rev. Miller spent 19 years in Africa, and gave us a wonderful look into this continent.

In the afternoon we had recreation. We could choose to play either shuffleboard, baseball, or volley ball or go swimming. Every evening we had a bedtime story told by Mrs. Frank Field.

July 5th, Rev. Puffer came after us and we started home, arriving in Grayling at 5:30 p. m., a very tired but happy group.

WAIT FOR THE DIAL TONE

1. Pick up the receiver and listen before starting to dial.

2. If the dial tone is delayed, wait until you hear that steady hum-m-m.

3. When you hear the dial tone, dial the number carefully.

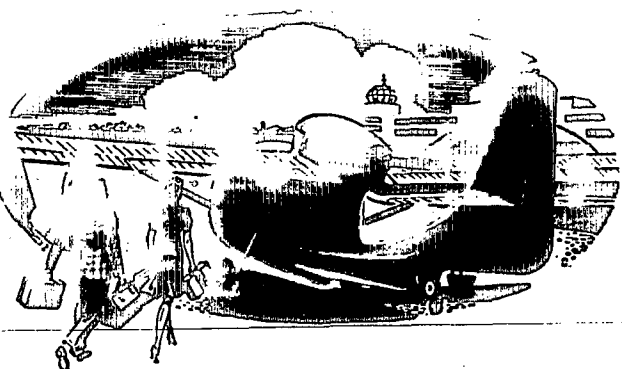

THAT dial tone is mighty important. It means that the switching equipment in the telephone central office is ready to handle your call. If you dial before you hear it, you'll get a wrong number or no number at all.

Right now there are times when the dial tone is delayed. That's because central office facilities are serving more telephones and handling more calls than ever before... even more than during the busiest war years. And material shortages prevent us adding equipment as fast as we'd like.

But this situation is only temporary. We will restore service to normal as quickly as enough dial equipment can be provided.

Meantime, please remember to listen for the dial tone before you dial.

High Price Tags . . .

The argument over the causes and cures of commodity price inflation has degenerated into a buck-passing contest. Labor blames capital and capital blames labor. Various segments of business blame other segments of business. Government officials attack industry, and industry counter-attacks in turn. And a good many consumers seem to feel everyone save themselves is at fault.

The truth is that the guilt must be shared by all elements in the American economy. And the cure, if there is one, can be achieved only by unified attack on the fundamental forces that push prices up — and the value of the dollar down.

First of all, prodigal government is a very strong inflationary influence. The terrible burden of debt the country now has makes this danger infinitely greater than it ever was before. We must put our fiscal house in order.

The productivity of labor is all-important. A basic reason for high prices is that output per man in producing industry has gone down — while wages have gone up. This philosophy of more money for less work is one of the best friends inflation has.

The attempt of some businesses to earn excessive profits comes into the same category. It is an inexcusable form of consumer exploitation. Fortunately, it is gradually being corrected as competition becomes more intense.

The type of prodigal buyer who will pay anything for what he wants has made the black market in the past — and is a dangerous influence still. However, the easy money seems to be running out, which is a blessing to the country.

These factors contribute to the high price tags you see on goods in stores. They indicate why efforts of retailers to reduce prices can not produce much in the way of results under present conditions. Reform must begin at the source — and until that happens the price problem will loom large in American life, so don't blame the retailer!

Health NEWS

Health and Housing

Report of a recent house to house canvass of 83 cities, just released, reveals some facts concerning the relation of housing to health that are causing doctors of medicine to intensify their efforts to secure more healthful living conditions for persons of low incomes.

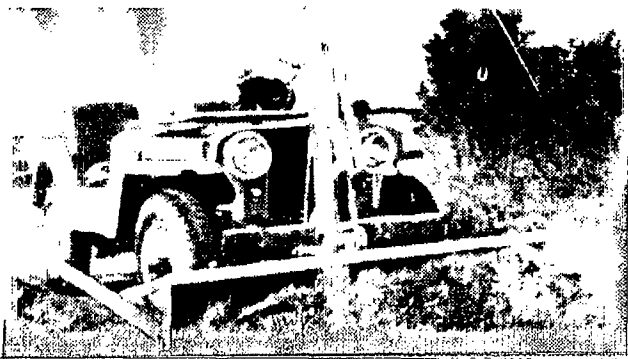

This report stresses the essential part that pure water, sanitary sewage disposal, proper ventilation, light and heat, adequate space for family living, absence of dampness, screening against flies and mosquitoes, freedom from fire and accident hazards and ample playgrounds and sunshine for children, play in protecting health.

Other points brought out were that crowding spreads pneumonia and tuberculosis especially; absence of private inside flush toilets leads to increase in certain digestive diseases; rats and vermin infest many rundown houses and are notorious disease spreaders. Also that the death rate from preventable diseases and the number of avoidable, disabling accidents is highest in congested areas.

Medical men are girding for a long time program, as they realize that the eradication of unfit housing cannot be accomplished overnight and that suitable housing must be provided in its stead. They are working closely with public officials and welfare authorities to accomplish this end.

"Health News" is presented by your doctor of Medicine as a health service of the Michigan State Medical Society.

months old, in a play her father was producing, but reached the ripe old age of five months before she had a real part. Later she had a Hollywood career as a child actress; in 1938 she arrived in New York and three days later landed a top radio role.

The nice round sum of $3,000,000 has been budgeted for Enterprise Studio's film version of Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman." The romantic idyll of the 19th century will be modernized, given a cast of top names, and filmed in color.

The real reason why Cary Grant won't make his picture for Alexander Korda for at least another year is that he'll play the devil in it; as he's currently portraying an angel in Goldwyn's "The Bishop's Wife," Korda feels that a decent interval should elapse between the two assignments, so that we film goers may have time to adjust ourselves to the radical change in type.

Franchot Tone was tutored in Spanish for his scenes in RKO's "Honey Moon," in which he co-stars with Shirley Temple and Guy Madison. He got along so rapidly that Director William Keighley couldn't understand it, until he learned that the coach had made recordings of all Tone's Spanish-language speeches, and the actor had spent his evenings listening to them.

Bill Lundigan and Dennis O'Keefe were facing each other for a scene in "Dishonored Lady"; Bill, playing a cowardly, amateur murderer, had a gun in his hand; but Director Robert Stevenson thought he handled it too expertly. "Be clumsy with it," he urged. "Don't hold the gun as if you know how." "I can't very well," said Bill. "I used one to save my life on Tarawa." He did; he was with the Marines when they landed there, and his gun was almost part of his hand. It's John Loder he kills in the picture; Hedy Lamarr is suspected.

One reason for the popularity of "The Whistler," on CBS is the consistently excellent casting of the finest radio actors and actresses in Hollywood, not only for major roles but for minor characterizations as well. The cast reads like a who's who in radio acting. Charles Seel has been in "Whistler" pro-actions since September, when Lou Gerson in eight.

Jack Meakin, whose 25-piece band on "Summerfield Bandstand" will replace "The Great Gildersleeve" this summer, sold his latest song to Republic Studios three times. It's "Out California Way." They bought it first as a theme for a western picture, then repurchased it to use as title for the movie—and bought it again to use in their picture, "The Hit Parade."

One of the toughest and longest motion picture fights ever filmed in technicolor is that between Larry Parks and George Macready in umbra's "The Swordsman"; took five days to film, but will last only three and a half minutes on the screen.

Rudolph Cameron recently donned grease paint for the first time in years for a character part in Rita Hayworth's technicolor musical, "Down to Earth."

ODDS AND ENDS... An airplane load of lilacs was flown to Hollywood for scenes in Paramount's "Dear Ruth"; lilacs don't grow there. "Suspense" will stay on the air Thursdays over CBS, continuing a sponsored run that began in December, 1943, and has never been interrupted. Cliff Edwards will use his "Liminy Cricket" voice in another Walt Disney picture, "Fun and Fancy Free." Following a romantic scene with Ronald Reagan for "The Voice of the Turtle," tall Eve Arden was radiant—it was the first time she hadn't had to take off her shoes so the hero could reach her lips!

Letters To The Editor

14590 Penrod, Detroit 23, Mich.
June 27, 1947.

Dear Editor:

Could you kindly take a little space for the following?

I have a little property on the outskirts of Grayling. I have made a habit of visiting your fair city and people almost every year excepting war years.

Would it be requesting too much to ask that through common decency, property of others be left alone?

True Americanism brings with it the right to one's belongings.

Vandals have taken not only equipment, furniture, etc., but also the pump, boards from the house, wood, etc. I ask you, could anything be more un-American?

We pay taxes to your good city.

Do we get any or no protection, or shall we look elsewhere to spend our tourist money, as we have done for the last 25 years?

It might do us all good to look into the matter from many sides.

Keep Grayling's good name as a pleasant place to visit yearly and to enjoy, but not at the rate property has been ruined by certain elements abiding within its borders.

Yours truly,
(Mrs.) Emma Von Mach,
School Teacher.

Business Sees Need Of Income Tax Cut

Economy moves in Congress have raised business hopes for income tax cuts to spur capital investment in new enterprise.

Debate in and out of Congress on Federal spending has brought strong outcry against continuation of high war-time income tax rates. Business spokesmen contend these high rates defeat the purpose of raising revenue by stifling incentive for enterprise.

The Committee on Federal Finance of the United States Chamber of Commerce holds the present income tax structure bars "progress, thrift and prosperity" and restricts revenue yield.

The Chamber has urged application of part of the budget economies voted in Congress toward reduction in income tax rates, as a stimulus to business initiative.

Final Month For Reinstatement

This (July) is the last month for veterans to reinstate GI Insurance without physical examination.

Veterans Administration officials issued this final warning today while revealing that nearly two-thirds of Michigan's 600,000 veterans of World War II have dropped their National Service Life Insurance.

From where I sit... by Joe MarshFish Bites Women!

Willie Wells was coming home from Seward's Creek the other evening with a string of trout, when a stern looking lady (visitor at the Boxwood Inn) stops him, and tells him a man his size could be better occupied than catching fish.

Willie tells her off real good-naturedly by saying: "Perhaps you're right, but if these fish had kept their mouths shut, they wouldn't be here." (At that, says Willie, laughing out loud, she looked just as if a fish had bit her!)

Blabbing mouths never cause

anything but trouble. Nobody who knew the facts would ever criticize Willie's right to go fishing on his one day off—any more than they'd deny his right to come home to a mellow glass of beer.

From where I sit, the slower we are to criticize—and the quicker we are to recognize another's tastes, the better we'll get along together—whether those tastes apply to beer or fishing.
